Tourism Promotion Training Course – RE-BUILD Project AID 013244/12/7

Associazione Centro ELIS, as partner of the project “Quality Architectural Conservation as an Engine for the Economic Development of Construction and Tourism in Jordan / RE-BUILD” (AID 013244/12/7), co-financed by the Italian Agency for Development Cooperation (AICS) under the 2023 Call for Proposals for Initiatives Promoted by Local Authorities and Civil Society Organizations (and other non-profit entities registered under Article 26, Law no. 125/2014), announces a call for applications to select 60 young unemployed Jordanians to participate in training courses for Hospitality and Tourism Management to be implemented within the framework of the RE-BUILD Project.

Jordan

Amman, Karak, Petra

1. Course Objective

- The Tourism Management Course is the ideal path for those who wish to work in the world of tourism and who want to strengthen both skills and knowledge of a large, complex and changing sector. The structure of the course can allow each descendant to build a profile that can be spent in different tourist and international contexts and that can therefore concern companies or institutions operating in incoming and outgoing tourism. The course aims to deepen the world of Tourism by approaching a multicultural and global study. Students will be able to acquire issues related to the management of tourism companies, accommodation companies, sustainability and environmental enhancement, as well as tourism policies in the sector and management of social media and tourism marketing. Finally, considering the importance of soft skills in the tourism sector, learners will be able to complete the course with an experiential study of the most requested transversal skills, which are essential for their performance and professional growth.
- The Hospitality Management Course is a strategic element for the quality of hospitality services. The professional figure trained through this path plays a crucial role, as he represents the first point of contact with the customer, and therefore equipped with excellent soft skills and a good predisposition towards meeting needs. In addition, the transversality of the profession finds an outlet in all those environments where the representation of a coordinator and supervisor of the reception areas is necessary. The aim of the course is to guarantee an exit level rich in soft and hard skills that can be guarantors of professionalism in the various areas of the tourism sector, including hotels, starred restaurants, but also major events, congresses, fairs and more.
